

threw in, and just before that my wife came to me and said to me, she said, "Enoch, don't you think it is kind of chilly? Don't you think you ought to come in and get your supper and come back again?" Anyhow, that is only minor. So I said, "I don't believe I will be here very long because they are not biting very much." She says, "I will go home and have coffee; as soon as you get ready come in and have supper." So I started away from here, I walked up towards home, and then when I left here Mr. Stevens was sitting on the box and his line was in the water. Now, how many below that, I could not say, but were several there right down.

Q Down south you mean? A. South, yes, south of Brown Avenue. Then I pulled my line in, tied it up and started for home.

Q About what time was this? A. I will fetch it up right to the minute. I was here and Mr. Stevens was afishing, and everything was going along nice, but the argument was what directed my attention to remember. And so I went out; I started from here, walked on Magee, took the boardwalk and walked home, right up the boardwalk. When I came to Mrs. Meekam's house I took their private walk as they have out and went right by the house, walked by, and went down to the house, to my house, and I took and rapped on the door, and as I
